

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and apparatus are provided to control the atmosphere inside of a xerographic control module of an image forming device so that a dew point condition is not reached. The parameters of the atmosphere within the xerographic chamber which are 5 controlled include pressure, temperature and humidity.